Observations... City Forms Park Commission

By the Editor

Our friend, Chance Cole, Editor of the Picayune Item, must be getting a bit fidgety about our efforts to reidentify ourselves in the changing of the postal routes serving the greater portion of Hancock County, to post offices located within the County, so that our people would get better mail service from their County seat. He had this to say in his column this past week: "Picayune is really on the ball, says Editor A. G. (Red) Favre of the Sea Coast Echo of Bay St. Louis, in urging his business men to do something about their rural routes going near that city. We doubt if there is anything this good editor or the business men of that city can do and need not say, we are 'agin' them doing anything, for more reasons than one, yet we must admire his spirit in directing it. . . . We want to call his attention to one glaring error in his story. Our readers will note that he said 'Little Town' when he referred to Picayune. (Correct that one 'Red')."

Well Chance we have to admit you boys in Picayune are on the ball. Results are what counts, and you boys have certainly shown results. But bear in mind our heart is set in this matter, and we doubt if anyone has ever accused us of being a quitter. It may happen that our business men will awaken from their sound and peaceful slumber, and boy, when their ire is aroused they know how to do battle. You know, Chance, fighting down here, particularly among ourselves, is one of the pastimes; and if we ever learn the art of joining together in a common purpose and do our fighting for civic good, you had better watch our smoke. Have an idea this may happen in the matter we are discussing. Just think how nice it would be for the people in the lower part of our County around Lakeshore, Ansley and the lower part of the highway to have a rural route out of Bay St. Louis. Then another route could emanate from Logtown to serve Aaron Academy, Flatport and other parts of that area; and from that route could serve all of the North-east part of the county. Yes sir, Chance, we have got to reidentify Hancock County. This is the first move, and there is a must sign on it, even though you say there is nothing we can do about it. . . .

The fur will fly in our little sister city of Waveland shortly. Their primary election will be held September 16th. . . . elections are really taken seriously down there. The Supreme Court of Mississippi has written more election law from this municipality, than from all the rest of the state put together. Unless we miss our guess pretty badly, they are going to write some more following this election. We offer this advice to all the candidates of the various factions: Carry on your fight as hard as you can, and put all you have into it until election day. Realizing that all of you cannot be elected, when the election is over, put aside your election arguments and personalities until this time four years hence. Try working hand in hand regardless of which political side you are on for the further building of your town. It will amaze you to see the results when political bickering and personalities are dropped through cooperation for civic good. . . .

Some folks who own property along the present highway, and others who are in business there, have become alarmed over the question of time to rebuild this roadway, or if the location of the bridge is changed, just when the present highway route will be abandoned. First, we do not think the location of the highway will be changed. Next, if it were to be changed, it will take at least two years to construct the "Monument to Political Indifference" which will span the Bay of St. Louis. Go along in the pursuit of your business and forget the construction of the highway, you will have plenty of time in the future to give that some thought. . . .

We want to extend our congratulations to the Mayor and Commission Council for their action in passing an ordinance creating a Park Commission for the City of Bay St. Louis. This may be one of the answers, and probably the solution, to our beach and pier problem. It will afford a source of revenue for these purposes, and as we understand it, from Commissioners Ladner and Glover, the tax levy which will include the two mills for the park commission will be less than the levy of last year. Again, accept (Continued on Last Page Sec. 1)

JACK LOWE

Jack Lowe, assistant coach at Bay High for the 1950-51 term, arrived in Bay St. Louis this week. With his wife, the former Margie Brown of Picayune, and 20 month old daughter, Sheila, he is residing at 306 North Toulme street.

Mr. Lowe, who is a native of Columbia, Mississippi, received his Bachelor of Science degree in physical education from Louisiana College in Pineville this year; he attended Pearl River Junior college at Poplarville for two years.

The new assistant served two years in the United States Navy during World War II.

Gerald Guidroz Is Named Superintendent of Kiln

Gerald Guidroz, the new superintendent of Kiln School, and his wife and son, moved into the teachers' home in Kiln last week-end in preparation for the opening of school, September 1.

A member of the Catholic church, Mr. Guidroz was born and reared in Raceland, Louisiana, where he attended both grammar and high school. After finishing a year of college work at Loyola University, he spent the next two years in the army, where he learned to operate both telegraphic and voice radio sets for the Field Artillery. As the conclusion of his service in the U. S. Army, he returned to Loyola, from which institution he received a B. S. degree in Education.

Three months before his graduation from Loyola, Mr. Guidroz obtained a position in Biloxi Public High School to teach Biology, Algebra and English. His work there was described in the Daily Herald, May 26, 1950:

"Gerald Guidroz, English and journalism instructor at Biloxi High School, has resigned effective August 1 to become superintendent of the Kiln Consolidated Schools at Kiln, Arthur E. Scruggs, superintendent of the Biloxi City Schools, announced today.

"Supt. Scruggs said that the Biloxi board of Trustees accepted Mr. Guidroz's resignation at a board meeting Thursday. He had received his contract from S. S. Moran, chairman of the board of trustees, of Kiln, Mississippi. Mr. Guidroz was re-elected for the 1950-51 session and the Biloxi board accepted his resignation with regret.

"A graduate of Loyola University of the South, New Orleans, Mr. Guidroz has been connected with the Biloxi city schools for the past year and a half. Coming to Biloxi as a science and mathematics instructor, Mr. Guidroz was later assigned to English, and journalism.

"In addition to his teaching duties, he was an editorial advisor for the Biloxi Hi Tide, student newspaper, and the Indian Echo, student yearbook."

Mr. Guidroz came to Kiln from Hattiesburg, Mississippi, where he has been attending summer school, taking courses in school administration.

Members of the Kiln faculty, other than Mr. Guidroz, who will also teach English for the 1950-51 term include Edward B. Bollen, mathematics; Mrs. Mary Favre, home economics and science; Percy Garriaga, social studies; and boys' coach, Miss Rosalie Lyle, ranking teacher; Mrs. Edward B. Bollen, fifth grade; Miss Ann Ginn, fourth grade; Miss Joel Quintin, third grade and girls' basketball coach; Miss Gloria Martin, second grade and commercial work; and Mrs. Herbert H. Squires, first grade.

An ordinance creating a park commission was passed at a meeting of the Board of Mayor and Commissioners of the City of Bay St. Louis on Thursday morning. The commission, which will consist of five commissioners, will manage and control all parks, playgrounds and swimming pools, maintained and established in the City.

The motion was introduced by Commissioner Sylvan J. Ladner, Jr., and seconded by Commissioner J. Cyril Glover.

Under House Bill No. 71, passed during the regular session of the Mississippi Legislature of 1950, the governing authority of any municipality having in excess of two thousand population, according to the last federal census, was authorized and empowered, in its discretion, to create a park commission consisting of not less than three nor more than five members.

The Commission Council will levy and collect an annual tax, not to exceed two mills, for the purpose of construction, supporting and maintaining parks and playgrounds and of recreational purposes in the City of Bay St. Louis. The new tax levy will not increase the present taxes above that of previous years, we are informed.

In Ordinance Number 127, the Council stated "that it would be to the best interest and welfare of our people of Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, and would result in the improvement of the general health, entertainment and happiness of the citizens of the City . . . to create a park commission for the said City, and to elect five members thereof . . . and that they shall have such powers and duties as prescribed by law."

Are you interested in becoming Mississippi's 'Queen of the Forests' and the recipient of a handsome cash award? Some unmarried beauty between the ages of 16 and 21 who resides in a rural community will be chosen Hancock County queen of the forest in a contest to be held on or before September 15, Area Forest Ranger Clifton L. Leonard stated today.

All clubs, schools and other organizations in the county are requested by Ranger Leonard to sponsor contestants. All entries must live in the country or in communities or towns whose population does not exceed 2500. Full particulars will be published next week.

RIDE IN PARADE

The girl selected in Hancock County will then compete against winners in district competition. Winners in the five district meets will ride in a colorful 'forests and forest products' parade in Jackson, Friday, October 13, school day at the State Fair. Following the parade, contestants will vie for the honor of representing Mississippi as the "queen of the forest."

The State queen will be awarded a $100. war bond and the other contestants $25. bonds each.

Mr. Leonard is the overall chairman in the County; he can be contacted at the County Agent's office in the Knights of Columbus Hall or by calling 125.

PEARL RIVER ENTRY

Pearl River County has one entry, Miss Jackie Garrett, who is being sponsored by the Poplarville Jaycees.

By sponsoring someone from this County, favorable publicity and recognition for the area will be received; there is little expense for the sponsors if their candidate would win the district title.

The benefits received from this contest and the publicity connected with it, would more than compensate the organization, club or school that will sponsor some County beauty.

Skipperettes To Sail Sun.

A special Lightning class race for the Skipperettes will be sailed Sunday afternoon, August 27, at the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club.

HARRY L. SUMRALL, JR.

Pfc. Harry L. Sumrall, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Sumrall of Bay St. Louis, left recently for foreign duty.

Sumrall, who enlisted in the U. S. Marines in December 1948, was stationed at Camp Lejeune, North Carolina. A graduate of St. Stanislaus College in the Class of 1947, Sumrall attended one year at Mississippi College and began another term at Mississippi State College before entering the service during the semester.

Texas Co. Asks Permission To Conduct A Survey Near Pearlington Area

Application has been made by the Texas Company of New Orleans to the office of the District Engineer, Mobile District, for a permit for temporary work in a navigable waterway in this district, John P. Agnew, Jr., announced.

The waterway and location on which the seismic survey will be made is that part of Lake Borgne, Little Lake, Pearl River, West Middle River, West Pearl River, and all other connecting waterways, within an area 9 1/2 miles on the north boundary at latitude 30 degrees, 12 minutes, six miles long on the east boundary at longitude 89 degrees, 34 minutes, and 2 1/2 miles long on the west boundary. The south boundary follows the northern shore line of the Rigolets and extends along the south shore of Pearl River Island to Long Point, Louisiana, thence south and east. This area is located approximately central to a point 4 1/2 miles south of Pearlington, Mississippi. The adjacent waters south and west of the above described area are under the jurisdiction of the New Orleans Engineer District, and the proposed seismic survey will extend into these waters.

The seismic survey will consist of shot points 1000 feet to 3000 feet apart on lines spaced approximately one mile apart. Pipe at shot points will be marked by a red flag and no pipe will be left in place overnight.

Any protest to be made against the proposed operations from the standpoint of navigation must be received at the office of the District Engineer not later than September 1, 1950; otherwise, it will be considered that there is no objection.

The decision as to whether a permit will be issued must rest primarily upon the effect of the proposed work in navigation. The Corps of Engineers cannot undertake to judge conflicting claims to property rights affected by the proposed work, Agnew stated.

Her junior group was composed of Ral Ann Witter, Phyllis Allison, Rose Estapa, Jean Ladner, Tempe Perkins and Jane Wilson.

The funds derived from the annual drive are used to purchase books and to defray the operating expenses of the library.

LEROY LAFONTAINE

Pfc. Leroy Lafontaine, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ora Lafontaine of Pass Christian, was killed in action while serving with the Armed Forces in Korea, August 12.

This was the first war casualty for this area. Mrs. Lafontaine received word from the Adjutant General of the Army Sunday afternoon, of her son's death.

Lafontaine, who was the grandson of Mrs. Sylvania Lafontaine of Bay St. Louis, stayed here with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Lafontaine, from 1943 to 1944; he attended Bay High school for four or five months.

A native of Bay St. Louis, he moved to Pass Christian with his parents at an early age. He attended St. Joseph's Catholic school and Pass Christian high school before he came here to stay with his relatives. He joined the Army sometime around November, 1948.

Lafontaine, who would have been 21 in January, had one brother and two sisters, all of whom reside with their parents in Pass Christian.

J. B. McMillan, 54 Killed Enroute Here

John B. McMillan, 54, of New Orleans, was killed when his automobile struck a guard rail on the east approach to the Pearl River bridge on Highway 90, Tuesday, August 22.

Mr. McMillan, enroute to Bay St. Louis to meet his wife, Virginia Agnes McAllister McMillan, who was visiting Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Loiacano at their home on Second street. He was thrown from his car into the path of another vehicle.

Funeral services were held from the Leitz-Eagan Funeral home in New Orleans Thursday afternoon, August 24 at 2 o'clock, with interment in the Garden of Memories.

Mr. McMillan, who was a native of Alpine, Alabama, and a resident of New Orleans for 21 years, is survived by his wife; a son, John Blair McMillan, Jr.; a daughter, Mrs. J. C. Kellogg; a brother and sister, George G. Looney and Mrs. Sallie Lay Jr., of Atlanta Ga.; and his mother, Mrs. F. G. Looney of Atlanta.

Commissioners Deny Petition Challenging Waveland Voters

The Hancock County Election Commissioners have concluded one of the longest sessions this body has ever held. Convening on July 17, the board received petitions from Raymond Ladner, Felton J. Bourgeois, Alphonse B. Favre, Jr., John A. Garza and Edward P. Phillips, alleging the improper registration of certain persons in the Waveland Precinct and asking that these persons be transferred to their proper precincts, and/or stricken from the registration rolls.

Dedicate Church At Wiggins Sun.

The Most Rev. Richard O. Gerow, D. D. Bishop of the Diocese of Natchez, officiated at the dedication of the St. Francis Xavier Catholic church at Wiggins, Miss., Sunday, August 20. The church, which was recently built, is the first Catholic church in Stone County.

Also participating in the dedication were Rev. Father M. J. Fox, pastor, who was celebrant of the Mass, and Rt. Rev. Msgr. O'Connell, Rt. Rev. Msgr. Igone and a number of priests from this vicinity.

Following the dedication, Father Fox celebrated the first Mass lifted water in the Town of Waveland in the church. A special male choir from St. Thomas church in Long Beach sang the parts of the Mass.

The Brother Peter General Assembly Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus of Bay St. Louis and Gulfport, E. J. Arceneaux, Sr., Faithful Navigator, were honored guards to His Excellency, along with the Fourth Degree Knights of Vicksburg, who presented the Chalice to be used, and members of the Bishop Gunn Council of Gulfport.

The church is a brick structure located near the heart of the town, and it has a seating capacity of 100 people. Father Fox has many friends here in Bay St. Louis where he served as an assistant at the church of Our Lady of the Gulf for several years. Immediately after the dedication, he left for a visit to his home in Ireland; this is the first time he has seen his family in four years.

John Bell Talks Before Rotary

John Bell, who always keeps a supply of wit in his notes, addressed the Bay St. Louis Rotary Club Wednesday on the subject of "When people move to Bay St. Louis let's keep them here." Mr. Bell made the most of this point by citing cases of people coming to the town, and not being sought out by the residents and made to feel that the City is glad to have them.

There were 47 petitions filed by complaining parties. A motion was made by Robert L. Genin to have all of these persons cited before the commissioners; however, this motion was lost and the commissioners then ordered the citing of four named in the complaints: Charles O. Carver, Ervin Ladner, Mrs. Ethel Pancer, Theo James Bourgeois, to appear before the commissioners August 17, and show cause why their names should not have been stricken from the registration rolls.

HEAR TESTIMONY

Testimony was heard on the petitions challenging the qualifications of the four voters named above; and the commissioners, by a two to one vote, denied the petitions. In the case of Charles O. Carver, the explanation of the majority vote holding him a qualified voter in the Town of Waveland was explained by Edmund G. Gipson, one of the County Election Commissioners, in the proceedings of the Board. Carver's qualifications were challenged on the ground that he secured home-stead exemption in Bay St. Louis, and it appeared that the attorney general of Mississippi ruled that in that event he was disqualified. However, the testimony of the County Tax Assessor, showed that Carver, inquired from the assessors of the Bishop Gunn Council of Gulfport, and the matter was taken up with the State Tax Commission, which ruled negatively. The Commissioners then held, in view of these facts, that Carver intended to return to his home in Waveland and to maintain his citizenship there.

FACTS REMAIN SAME

In the other cases, Mr. Gipson's explanation of the majority vote was, that these particular persons were challenged in the last Town Election. A court, organized under the corrupt practices act, heard all of the evidence as had been introduced by the complaining parties and that the facts had not changed; this court held that these parties were qualified voters of the Town of Waveland. The name of Louis P. Brodick was stricken from the registration roll, for the reason that it appeared he was a registered qualified voter in the City of New Orleans.

ISSUE CITATION

On motion of Robert L. Genin, citations were issued for Emile Cue, Mrs. Ellen Cue, Mrs. Rita Cue, Raymond T. J. Chapin, Mrs. T. J. Chapin, Louis Schwall and Mrs. Louis Schwall to appear before the Commissioners and to show cause why their names should not have been stricken from the registration rolls of precincts within the City of Bay St. Louis, and be transferred to the respective precincts wherein they are residing.

REFUSE TO TESTIFY

Mr. Cue and Mr. Chapin, appeared before the board, represented by counsel, and refused to testify, stating that they stood upon their constitutional rights, and that their testimony might incriminate them. The commissioners by a two to one vote, defeated the motion of Mr. Genin, to have the above mentioned parties transferred.

FURNISH REPORT

The Commissioners recessed August 22, to allow the clerk to prepare their minutes for final adjournment. A complete copy of the report of the Commissioners will be furnished to the forthcoming grand jury and to the board of Supervisors of the county.

MRS. JAMES CALLED TO ATHENS THURS.

Mrs. W. W. James was called to her home at Athens, Ala., Thursday afternoon by a message informing her of the accidental death of one of her brothers. It was said that the accident occurred at Decatur, Ala.

Full particulars are not known here at this time.

The new building recently constructed for the Coast Electric Power Association, local REA Co-op, is near completion. The employees will move in soon and open house will be held within the next two or three weeks; the building will be open at that time to the general public, but not before the announcement is made. Ground for the new building, which is located at the corner of Highway 90 and Main street, was broken in October 1949. The Sherman Construction Company was the contracting firm, and T. J. Briggs of Jackson, architect for the modern structure. The new structure will be served from their own electric facilities, and all administrative offices will be housed in the building. It offers warehouse space, garages and some small shops which are located in an adjacent building. The REA has space for storage of poles and accommodations for their two-way radio equipment. ## TIME FOR AN AWAKENING

Will Hancock County have a Queen of the Forest? The answer to this question lies with the various clubs, schools and organizations of the County. The Queen of the Forest must be selected from girls who live in the country or in communities or towns of populations of less than 2500. Every girl in Hancock County with the exception of those living in Bay St. Louis, is a possibility. This is another opportunity for Hancock County to receive some recognition.

Some of the loveliest girls in the State of Mississippi live within the borders of Hancock County. Will we tell the world about them, or will we again do the backsliding act as was performed in the Miss Hospitality contest, when Bay St. Louis failed to enter a contestant because some of our business men, named on a committee, lacked the courage to be counted when it was time to pass on the contestants.

It is time for us to face facts, and to realize we must be courageous enough to express opinions and even criticisms, though they should be constructive, in public matters, or in matters affecting our county welfare. We are passing up many opportunities to bring our county to the forefront. We must realize that publicity counts, and the Miss Hospitality Contest was a great opportunity, for we actually believe the young ladies whom we understand, were to be the contestants, would have had a real chance to become Mississippi's Miss Hospitality. This contest is now in the past. The future lies before us, and we should certainly name a Queen of the Forest in Hancock County—first because of the honor which would come to one of our fair young ladies, and next, for the reason that Hancock County should be represented in any undertaking which bears to forestry. This county was one of the first to set up the machinery for forest preservation.

The time is here for us to awaken from our peaceful slumber and tell the world there is such a place as Hancock County, where hospitality dwells and opportunity abounds.

The decision is in your hands.

Sullivan - Boudreaux Wedding Held

Miss Marie Louise Boudreaux, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Boudreaux, of this city and Thomas Sullivan, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Sullivan of Mayo, Florida, were married Sunday afternoon, August 20, at 2:30, before the bride's family and a few close friends.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. R. L. Lee at his home on Carroll avenue, and the reception was held at the home of the bride's parents at 205 St. George street.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and was dressed in a pale blue floor length dress of embroidered organdy over taffeta, fashioned with a plain bodice with long sleeves shirring in front. The round neck was finished with a binding, and the off the shoulder appearance was effected by a bias fold. The bodice ended with a point below the waist line and a full gathered street length skirt. She wore pink hat trimmed in light blue tulle and a shoulder corsage of white carnations.

The only attendant to the bride was her sister, Miss Lucille Boudreaux, who wore pink organdy over taffeta worn with a small open crown hat trimmed in pink and white net. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

Henry Perre, uncle of the bride, was best man.

The bride's table held the four tiered cake which was surrounded by fern and flowers.

The couple left on a wedding trip to Panama City, Florida; they will then go to Mayo where they will live. For traveling the bride wore a green and white printed cotton frock and a white pique hat.

Mrs. Sullivan held a position with the Southern Bell Telephone Company here.

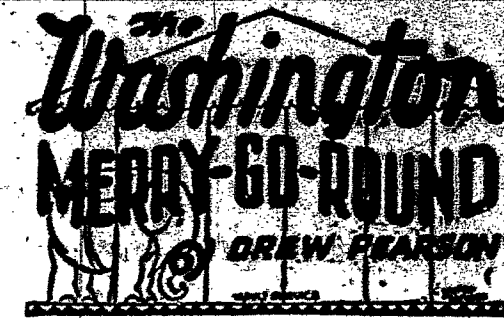

Coming from out of town for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Lunch and children, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Slotz, Miss Edna Haupt and August Perre, Jr., all of New Orleans.

An entrance prize will be given and other awards will be made.

Auxiliary Gives Bingo For Legion Building

The American Legion Auxiliary will give a bingo game for the benefit of the building fund of the Clement R. Bontemps Post 139 of the American Legion at the Knock-Knock, Thursday, August 31 at 8:00 P. M.

An entrance prize will be given and other awards will be made.

Secret ECA Session

A CONGRESSIONAL leaders gathered in his office to discuss the President's request for an additional $4-billion to arm our allies. Mr. Truman opened the meeting by urging everyone to "speak freely and give me your opinions." He got his wish.

There were two verbal explosions at the secret session, one from Democratic Sen. Tom Connally of Texas, who demanded that some of the $4-billion be diverted from ECA spending; another from GOP congressman Dewey Short of Missouri, who objected to bypassing congressional committees.

"Are all these millions for economic (ECA) aid necessary at a time like this?" demanded Connally, pointing out that if the U.S. must tighten its belt economically for war, our European friends should expect less economic help from us. "Why can't some of it be used for military aid?" the Texas senator asked.

"We can't cut off food to those unfortunate people," explained Secretary of State Acheson, who attended the meeting. He added that this was more important than sending arms—certainly more important in keeping the friendship of western Europe.

"Yes, but we don't have to feed them for five years," he added the acid-tongued Texan. "Some of our own people need feeding. Besides, not all this ECA money goes for food. Some of it is spent for such things as hydroelectric projects in Europe."

Acheson agreed, but reminded Connally that western Europeans need electric power not only for peace, but to manufacture arms for use against aggressors.

"It takes two or three years to build a dam and the other facilities needed to produce electric power," shot back Texas Tom, in no mood to be argued down. "We are dealing with a current emergency—the problem of providing military aid now. If an amendment is offered to use some of this ECA money for arms, I'll vote for it."

Missourians Differ

Congressman Short, the only house Republican from Truman's home state—therefore an object of special disdain at the White House—complained about the strategy of bypassing the foreign affairs and armed services committees by sending the $4-billion measure directly to the senate and house appropriations committees.

"The time you will save will not be worth the hell feeling you will create in congress," protested Short. "If you went through the regular procedure of getting authorizations from the foreign affairs and armed services committees, you could still get this bill to the floor in a day."

"A lot of my colleagues will want to know what type of weapons we are sending to Europe—what countries are getting how much—and if the shipments can be made without weakening ourselves. But this information will be denied us."

As one humble and insignificant member of congress, "I can't say that I should give unanimous approval to this unconstitutional procedure."

"Oh, you're trying to make an issue out of nothing," snapped the President.

"No, I'm not," retorted his fellow Missourian. "There's a proper and an improper way to handle these matters."

Finally, house GOP leader Joe Martin intervened in favor of the President.

Wiretapping Probe

Betting odds on Capitol Hill are that the federal grand jury now probing police-style methods and the wiretapping inspired by Senator Brewster of Maine will end in a whitewash.

Despite the efforts of contentious James McInerney, chief of the justice department's criminal division, all but one of the wiretapping probes are arranged to get Senator Brewster and his friends, Pan American Airways, off the hot spot.

In the first place, the justice department held the wiretapping report for almost a year and only fished it out of the files after the facts had been exposed in the press. As a result, the statute of limitations is about to expire, and but one so-called remains—seven days from today—in which the grand jury can act.

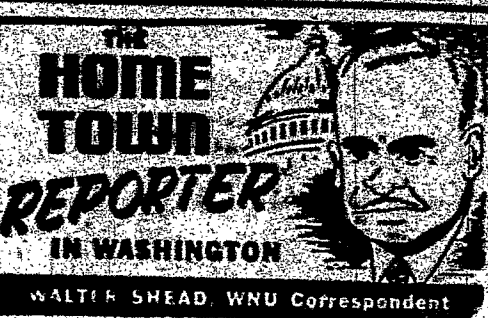

Feared For His Life

Meanwhile Senator Brewster's story is that his life was in danger and he called in the Washington police. While they may have tapped some wires in protecting him, he had no knowledge of what they were doing and received no information from them.

Significantly, other policemen who tapped Howard Hughes' wire under Lieutenant Shimon's direction had instructions to listen especially for conversations pertaining to the airplane industry.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Gregory have returned from a two weeks vacation spent in the Carolina mountains and Tennessee.

Miss Zelleigh Houze of Sibley, La., is the house guest of Miss Willes Yates at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Yates, on North Beach.

Democrats United

DESPITE the war in Korea this still an election year and when the 81st congress should be united behind the war effort there is a definite "not calling the kettle black" trend with Republicans blaming the administration for lack of preparedness in Korea and the Democrats citing the record of GOP votes against appropriations for Korean aid.

Instead of a clear cut election on the domestic issues, no one can now predict the public reaction to the war situation. Certainly all previous plans of both parties as to issues will be thrown into the discard. Republicans are now soft-pedaling the "welfare state" and "socialism" issue in favor of blaming the war on administration foreign policy mistakes.

Increased prices, high taxes and the revival of controls and rationing may cause a major swing from one party to another. No one here ventures to guess now whether this swing will go to the Democrats on a basis of patriotic support of the war effort, or swing to the Republicans on the basis of irritation over the controls and lack of trust in the administration. Also certainly, at this stage of the Korean war, President Truman has deferred any nationwide stamp of the country in favor of Democratic candidates and will give his whole attention to the military and economic aspects of the war picture.

At this juncture, however, the Democrats seems to be more united as to policies than the Republicans. In the first place, as a result of the primary elections, it appears that the Dixiecrat split in the Democratic party is a thing of the past. All major leaders in the Dixiecrat split reached some definite in the primaries. These included Gov. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, running for the senate; former Gov. Ben Laney of Arkansas, national chairman of the Dixiecrat party, running for governor of that state; and the victory of Sen. Russell Long of Louisiana over the opposition of Leander Perez, national director of the States Rights national committee.

Progressive Party Split

Also, for whatever it is worth, the Progressive party headed by Henry Wallace which drew some votes from the Democrats in the last election has been split wide open with the defection of Mr. Wallace from their policy of supporting Joe Stalin.

Wallace made a statement in which he said he must go along with his own country in the war against the Communists.

GOP Split on Policy

The Republicans are still having internal party troubles and so far cannot seem to settle on a given policy of opposition. While Senator Taft of Ohio, chairman of the policy committee with Senator Wherry, of Nebraska, the minority floor leader, and a few others seemed in determination to oppose to giving the President powers for almost unlimited action. A group of house Republicans want to go even farther in clamping down more controls than the President asked.

Engineers Oppose TVA

The private power industry is having a report of the engineers' joint council on water power resources which criticized the present set-up for harnessing rivers for irrigation, flood control, conservation and hydroelectric power, as directly in line with the position of the private utility industry.

The engineers joint council represents some 100,000 engineers and their report, in no uncertain terms, criticized the overlapping functions of the army engineers, the department of the interior and other federal agencies which are water power resources. The engineers also are opposed to a federal authority such as TVA to work out these problems.

What they did propose is a state pact and that "collective action through the medium of the federal government is justified only for two purposes: to do things essential to national defense, or to aid in financing construction, cost of works for the benefit of a limited number of people on terms equitable to all other citizens."

Of course the proponents of river valley authorities also oppose the overlapping functions of the various government agencies and declare the only economically sound procedure is through an integrated river valley authority.

The only parallel line with the private electric industry as advocated by the engineers is in the matter of taxes. The engineers declare that in cases of federal reclamation projects, "the principle should be extended to provide for the payment of state and federal income taxes and excise taxes."

Life in the Old Liberties Yet; Lets Prove That to the World

By BILLY ROSE

Hon. Harry S. Truman
The White House
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. President:

I see by the papers that the Freedom Fair which was scheduled to open in Washington in 1951 has been called off. I respectfully suggest that you press a few buttons and call it back on again, and with your patience and permission I'd like to tell you why.

As this lopsided eight-ball of a planet currently shapes up, about the only thing worth talking about is freedom, or the lack of it, and as you yourself have repeatedly pointed out in your speeches, our people ought to know what they're talking about when the subject comes up.

Well, what's the best way to demonstrate that there's still plenty of life in the old liberties? Ridiculous facts and figures? Cliche's? Studied press releases? Rah-rah-rah editorials? No, Mr. President, not in this day and age. As I see it, the best way to stand off the sugar-coated of the strychnine being handed out by the Kremlin is to hand out a few lollipops of our own, and I can't think of a better place to do it than a 200-acre fairground within eyeshot of the Lincoln Memorial.

Impact-wise, what would such a shindig actually accomplish? Not much, Sir, if it were just a run-of-the-flushing-meadows type of fair. But it would do a potent plenty if it were a mammoth, hit-'em-in-all-five-senses whoopeytro in which everything from spectacle to side-show were built around one simple theme: The Freer the Enterprise, the More Enterprising the Freeman.

ONCE AND FOR ALL, let's cut out in terms of daily living and loving how well our Joe Doakeses are doing compared with the Josef Doakeses in the Iron Curtain countries. For example, in the exhibit area let our big auto outfits trot out their cars alongside a few Russian cars, and then let them dramatize how many man-hours of work it takes to make one—and, even more important, own one. And alongside the big General Motors building, let's have an even bigger U. A. W. building in which Walter Reuther can dramatically document how much better off his men are in terms of union contracts, working conditions and pension plans than the auto workers in the various Communistlands.

Once and for all, let's pull out all the stops and compare our homes, schools and churches with theirs. Let's exhibit an American voting booth with a curtain on the door, and next to it a Russian voting booth with an N.K.V.D. man where the curtain ought to be.

In short, let's give the Pinkos the lumps they've been asking for and make it clear as the nose on Jimmy Durante's face that there's no freedom unless everybody can exercise his taste and tonsils as he sees fit.

Let's even show them up on the midway. Instead of the usual Chamber of Horrors, let's re-stage the trial of Cardinal Mindszenty, and instead of the old-hat Ubangi sideshow, let the populace take a peek at a Siberian slave labor camp.

WITH NO POMP but plenty of documented circumstance, one big lesson is a cinch to emerge from the fair I envision: That "degenerate democracy" still provides the bestest for the mostest; that our way of life has got what it takes, and it would be downright silly to let the Commies take what we've got.

Of course, Mr. President, there isn't a chance of getting such a fair on by next year, but if the right words were dropped into the right ears pronto, there's no reason why the grand opening couldn't be set for '52. And, according to my astrologist, that would be an auspicious year for a fair, seeing as how around that time a certain party will be doing its damndest to convince the voters that it has a special talent for making democracy work.

If you think well enough of this notion to get behind it, Sir, I'll be glad to pitch in and help—whether it's making-pinkie or pink lemonade. Of course, I wouldn't do it for free. My fee would have to be the same as I'm getting as an advisory director to the California World Progress Exposition which will be held in San Diego in '53—a one-pound can of good smoking tobacco.

Respectfully,
Billy Rose

Congressional Sidelights

By W. M. COLMER

By an overwhelming vote of 383 to 12 the House after a week of confused debate and maneuvering passed and sent to the Senate a control bill giving the President sweeping powers to control the nation's economy during the next year.

Never in our whole tenure of office here have we seen so much confusion in the consideration of legislation and parliamentary maneuvering as was evidenced in the passage of this bill. This was brought about by the fact that the membership generally was for stronger controls than the Administration wanted; also, because of the fact that the majority of the memberships, mostly Northern Republicans and Southern Democrats, felt that it should be across-the-board controls, and that any control of prices must, also, necessarily apply to wages. The general impression was that the President would not run the risk of offending labor by controlling wages. The general impression can best be understood when it is pointed out that the Administration introduced and succeeded in getting out of Committee two substitute bills after the first one was reported and brought up for consideration on the floor. In the final analysis the bill as passed by the House was characteristic of most legislation. It was a compromise measure.

The measure includes permission to impose wage and price controls and rationing.

The use of these wage-price rationing powers would be discretionary with the President. There is no mandatory requirement that wage and price controls be imposed at the same time. The bill empowers the President to require acceptance and priority fulfillment of all national defense contracts, and authorizes him to requisition any materials or facilities he considers necessary to defense effort. He could set up a system of priorities and allocations to insure a supply of critical materials for defense plants. He could, also, either make or guarantee loans for defense purposes up to a total of two billion dollars. The measure, also, includes authority to control consumer credit, but restricts the control of real estate credit to new construction or extensive renovation. The President had originally asked for complete authority to regulate real estate credit.

It would be a criminal offense, punishable by fines or jail terms, to hoard food, clothing or other "necessaries." Meanwhile, the Senate debates on its control bill (S. 9396).

South Mississippi 1950 census reflects that the total population of Mississippi is 2,171,846, a loss of approximately twelve thousand during the past decade.

There were two surprises in the preliminary figures on the 1950 Census in Mississippi announced recently. One was that the loss of population for the State as a whole was about twelve thousand. While this was less than reports of migrations, especially of Negroes to the North and of rural people to defense centers, had led us to expect, Mississippi will still lose a Representative in Congress, after holding its own in the 1940 Census following the loss of an eighth Congressman as a result of the 1930 enumeration. Each Congressman in the country will theoretically represent an average of 344,090 people under the 1950 population for the United States. Using that as a basis, Mississippi would need a population of 2,408,000 to justify its retaining seven Representatives. It had 2,171,846, thereby falling short 236,154.

The second interesting point revealed by the 1950 Census was the tremendous growth of South Mississippi, while the rest of the State was losing in population. Harrison County (Gulfport-Biloxi), for example, had an increase of 33,000 over 1940, and Forrest (Hattiesburg) gained 10,000. The Sixth Congressional District, made up of the sixteen southeastern counties, gained 60,717. Only one other Congressional District, the Seventh, was in the plus column, gaining 16,598, thanks primarily to booming Hinds County (Jackson), with its increase of 34,000. All the other districts lost from twelve to twenty-four thousand, the exact losses being as follows: First 12,096; Second, 19,486; Third, 24,510; Fourth, 24,125; Fifth, 13,233.

This shift in population in the State gives rise to several interesting speculations. The trend confirmed by the 1950 Census was foreshadowed by the vote in the race for Governor in 1947, when the Sixth District polled a vote of 59,425, as high as two North Mississippi District combined or over one-fifth of the total vote cast. This obviously means that a shift in political power within the State is taking place.

A second speculation is what will happen when the Legislature faces the unpleasant task of redistricting the State before the 1952 Congress is elected in 1952. After the 1930 Census the problem of redistricting was solved—possibly resolved would be a better word—by simply lumping the old Seventh and Eighth districts together. The Sixth District lost Simpson County to the Fifth, Yalobusha County was shifted from the Fourth to the Second District, and the other districts were left untouched. This time no such simple answer seems possible.

While the Third and Seventh Districts will show a larger population than the Sixth District, we believe that a break-down will indicate that the Sixth District has the largest white population of any of the districts in the State. This is certainly indicated by the fact that in the last gubernatorial race, as well as in the Congressional races, the Sixth District substantially outvoted both the Third and Seventh Districts, as well as the others.

The present population, its increases and losses, according to the 1950 Federal Census, is as follows:

First District	251,271	-12,096
Second District	212,215	-19,486
Third District	411,020	-24,510
Fourth District	177,191	-24,125
Fifth District	248,133	-13,233
Sixth District	380,352	-60,717
Seventh District	487,781	-16,598

Camp Onward Provides Fun for Weary

Young and old flock to Camp Onward to spend their summers and enjoy the cool breezes of the Gulf Coast, the swimming and other forms of summer entertainment, every year.

This year, Mrs. Estella Hehn, who is eighty-three years of age, and little Pam Gillespie, ten months old, are the oldest and youngest members of Camp Onward.

Located on the Beach with its grounds extending to the railroad, Camp Onward was started by Miss Eleanor McMain of New Orleans; it is now in its thirty-eighth year. Mrs. Camille Comarda has been camp director for twenty-six years; Miss Nancy Evans is head resident; Miss Cleona Backman is program director, and Mrs. Henrietta Kern, who helps keep things moving, is assistant housekeeper.

Each summer, the recreational center is open for four periods, consisting of thirteen days each. They have had as many as ninety-seven registered in one period. Camp recreation consists mostly of Kingsley House activities, such as swimming, boating, games and dancing.

Located among beautiful oaks on coast waters, Camp Onward is made up of a number of individual buildings; they have a main building, Fellam cottage, Ross cottage, named for the Ross family who lived on the coast years ago, Shamrock cottage, a dance pavilion and concession house, Little Rock cottage and Forget-Me-Not cottage.

Every year a volunteer group comes over from New Orleans, before camp opens, to make preparations for the camp period. Camp Onward is sponsored by the Community Chest of New Orleans Red Feather agency.

One of the oldest members of Camp Onward was Mrs. J. J. Collins. Mrs. Collins was registered for the last period, when she was called to New Orleans August 1 by an illness in the family. She never returned to Camp Onward to complete her thirteen days, because Mrs. Collins died suddenly August 2. She has been connected with this organization since its infancy, but, for the last ten years, until this summer, she was unable to attend any of the periods; she was at DeBoise, Mississippi. She was loved and esteemed by all who knew her.

Not just one member of a family attends Camp Onward, but often, the whole family comes along for thirteen days or more of fun and relaxation. This year, the Brennan family, eleven in all, is the largest group at the Camp.

New Orleans is not the only city from which campers come; every year Mrs. L. Gegenheimer of McAllen, Texas, makes Camp Onward her destination for a well-spent and relaxing vacation. This year Miss Peggy Cavanaugh of Pensacola, Florida, has made a visit to this Coast camp.

Among the group of camp workers are Mrs. George Dawson, Mrs. Stanley Mendelson, Mrs. Sam Pizzolotta and Stanley Mendelson Jr., who plays the piano for the dances and entertains the junior group. —Photo by Ellis Bourgeois

Altar Society Sponsors Dance

By: Mrs. George Curet

On Friday night, August 11, the Altar Society of the Church of the Annunciation sponsored a dance given in the gymnasium of the Kiln school. The music for the occasion was furnished by Vic Green and his string band.

The dance was well attended, and the altar society realized a nice sum for its treasury.

The members of the altar society wish to thank not only those from this parish who attended, but the people from Clermont Harbor, Waveland, Lakeshore and Bay St. Louis who added to the crowd and actively participated in the entertainment of the evening.

On Friday night of this week August 25, the Altar Society will give another dance in the school gymnasium; the public is invited.

C. Y. O. GIVES DANCE

Parents as well as members were invited to attend the dance given Monday, August 14, in the gym of Kiln school. Teen-agers and their parents from all five churches, comprising this parish, attended.

In addition to the regular dancing, part of the time was spent in square dancing, which the C. Y. O. members have been practicing at their weekly meetings.

Cakes, which the girls had made themselves, and cold drinks were served.

Your State Health Officer Says

At this particular time, the health of our children is doubly important. The national emergency which now exists makes the health of each individual of national concern. During wartime, human life becomes extremely valuable not only for the purpose of immediate warfare but also for future defense and survival. Our youth become more and more valuable than ever, because their strength or weakness determines in part the strength or weakness of our country tomorrow.

Too, schools will be opening very shortly. Since hundreds of children will be thrown together everyday, the good health of each child becomes imperative. From the occurrence of a communicable disease in only one child, a whole school and community could become infected. From the failure of parents to have their children examined so that emotional difficulties and physical defects may be treated and corrected, whole families and classrooms may suffer. It is not rare at all for emotional difficulties to cause serious family troubles and for physical defects among a few children to retard the progress of all pupils.

If a nation is to survive in the modern world, its citizens must be physically, mentally and emotionally strong. Give your child the opportunity to become this type citizen. See that he has typhoid and smallpox-immunization and that physical defects are found and corrected. Help America tomorrow by helping your child today.

Civil Service Accepting Applications For Positions

Applications are being accepted by the Tenth U. S. Civil Service Regional Office, Federal Office Building, New Orleans, Louisiana for stenographer and typist positions at $2450 and $2650 a year, according to a statement issued today by A. J. Leach, Regional Director. Applications may be filed with the Tenth U. S. Civil Service Regional Office until further notice.

The call for stenographers and typists has been issued primarily to meet expected civilian personnel expansions in Army, Navy and Air Force establishments in Louisiana and Mississippi due to the Korean emergency and the accelerated rearmament program.

Mr. Leach said. Many appointments in the defense establishments will be emergency-indefinite in nature, not to extend beyond June 30, 1952, however, probationary appointments conferring permanent civil service status may also be made in the Department of Defense and in other agencies of the Federal government.

Applicants will be required to take a written examination and a test to demonstrate typing and stenographic ability. Age limits for these positions are 17 to 62 years and are waived for veterans.

Additional information and application forms can be secured from the Secretary, Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners and any first or second class post-office in Louisiana and Mississippi or from the Tenth U. S. Civil Service Regional Office, Federal Office Building, New Orleans, Louisiana.

COUNTY AGENT'S NOTES

MORE MONEY FOR CORN

By HOWARD F. SIMMONS

Unless you provide adequate storage facilities for your corn crop, you may lose as much as one-fourth the amount of money you can get for it later.

This year, Mississippi farmers are producing the largest corn crop on record. A total of 59 million bushels is estimated compared with the last record of 54 million bushels in 1917.

You know what usually happens when you have such an unusual bumper crop—the prices go down if all that corn hits the market at the same time. Remember, Mississippi farmers will produce 20 percent more corn this year than last year.

Last December, you farmers received an average of $1.13 per bushel for corn. In April, 1950, Mississippi farmers received an average of $1.41 per bushel. Now when you multiply this 28 cents added income (by saving your corn until Spring) by the 59 million bushels for the entire state, you can see that it will amount to an additional $16,520,000 for the state.

Another record-breaking crop which enters into the picture of farmers providing adequate storage facilities is the soybean crop estimated at 5,274,000 bushels. The 1949 soybean acreage, for beans, amounted to 108,000 acres and the 1950 acreage is estimated at 293,000 acres which is an increase of 171 percent or nearly three times the acreage grown last year.

Farmers who do not have suitable and adequate storage for these crops are being urged by Charles L. Cary, Extension marketing specialist, to take immediate steps to provide needed storage of whatever type material is available.

Storage facilities may consist of metal bins, frame structures, renovated tenant houses, or in the case of corn, even cribs made of poles, lined with sisalcraft or other heavy building paper, and provided with a good weather-proof roof.

The present tendency is for prices to go up, and so by taking advantage of the FMA loan support price of $1.10 per bushel as a guarantee, farmers who store their grain until next Spring may get more than one-fourth more money.

Unless adequate and approved storage is provided, these crops, of necessity, will be sacrificed at harvest time, without the benefit of the government loan or support price.

Winter oats can be planted on sod land, or followings hay crops or soybean harvest. A third place is with a clover or legume, either to be planted or volunteering back.

A good plan would be to plant one-fourth of the oats on sod land, one-fourth with a clover and half on land to be followed by lespedeza for next Summer's grazing or for hay. Oats for winter grazing should be planted on well-drained land.

Fescue and rye grass are two other good crops for winter and spring grazing, if plenty of nitrogen is used.

The fescue can be planted with white clover, or alone. If planted alone it must be nitrated. Nitrogen will still pay off well if fescue is planted with clover.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Fregele entertained a group of their friends over the weekend with a Splash party and barbecue. The occasion was the opening of their new swimming pool.

Their guests included Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Jones, Leonard Jones Jr., Mr. and Mrs. A. Fleming of New Orleans, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Adams, S. H. Adams and Cleo Martin of Lafayette, John Leveson and James Carey of Abita Springs, Mrs. J. Fregele.

NOW IS THE TIME TO BUY THE BEST!

GOODYEAR

TIRES are the best!

In times like these, far-sighted people naturally buy the best. And when it comes to tires, they buy the best tires. That's why more car owners today are turning to Goodyear tires.

That's why we're having a hard time keeping Goodyear tires in stock—despite the fact that Goodyear makes more tires than any other manufacturer in the world. Even if we are temporarily out of your tire-size, it will pay you to place your order now for earliest possible delivery.

Trade new miles for old

90% of all tire trouble occurs in the last 10% of tire life. Why take chances with worn, smooth tires? We'll trade new Goodyear miles for the remaining unsafe mileage in your present tires. Get out of the "danger zone"—go Goodyear. And for safer driving, get LifeGuard Safety Tubes.

Remember, if we don't have your tire size today, it will pay you to wait for new Goodyear years—the best!

Come in... let's talk tires, tubes,

Lions Receive Check from Boy Scout Concession

A financial report on the profits from the Boy Scout concession at the Pass Christian softball park, up to, and including, June 17, 1950, was given by David H. Wainwright, member of the Boy Scout committee, at the bi-monthly meeting of the Pass Christian Lions Club Monday evening at the Miramar hotel.

Lion Wainwright presented a check to Lion Howard Adam, who is the newly appointed treasurer of the Boy Scout committee; this check represented the profit made by the Boy Scout troop sponsored by the Lions Club up to the above date. One-half of the profits went to the Pass Christian softball league; one-fourth to the Rotary sponsored Boy Scout troop; and the remaining quarter to the Lions troop. On June 17 the concession went under the management of, and was operated by the league. The profit from that date on will be divided as above, between the three organizations, at the close of the season.

The showing of the motion picture, "Power of the South," has been postponed from the original date of September 11 to a tentative date of October 9, Liddell Caffery, Lion president, announced. The show was postponed because the film had been previously scheduled for showing elsewhere on the first date.

The meeting for the first Monday of September has been changed to the second Monday, September 11, as the Labor Day holiday comes on the 4th; this meeting will be a ladies' night program.

PCYC Loses Knost Trophy

The Knost Trophy series ended Sunday evening with the defending champions, the Pass Christian Yacht Club, losing the trophy to a victorious Southern Yacht Club team of New Orleans, by a mere three points.

In the first race of the series, which was sailed Saturday afternoon, the P. C. Y. C. skipperette, Miss Lorette Knost, and her crew, Miss Rosalie Ambler and Miss Marion Christ, were leading the fleet after the first round, followed by S. Y. C. skipperette, Miss Henrietta Ware and crew, Mrs. William Seeman, Jr., and Mrs. Robert Hughes. A summer squall, with rather heavy weather, hit and caused the Pass to lose their position. Skipperette Gwen Sewell, with her crew, Mrs. Olga Sewell and Emily Julian of Biloxi Yacht Club took advantage of the situation and captured the Pass lead. S. Y. C. came around behind her and gained ground up to the finish line, but could not overtake the winning Biloxi team.

The Biloxi Yacht club came in first, with S. Y. C. second; St. Andrews Bay Yacht Club, third; P. C. Y. C., fourth; Fairhope, fifth; Gulfport Yacht Club, sixth; Buccaneer Yacht Club of Mobile, seventh; Pensacola Yacht Club, eighth; and Bay-Waveland Yacht Club ninth.

In spite of the weather, they crossed the finish line after only one hour and 23 minutes.

The supper dance at the Yacht Club Saturday night followed the races and was well attended.

Sunday morning saw the opposite extreme in sailing conditions—a light breeze, and at times, a dead calm. Mrs. Gilbert Gray of S. Y. C., assisted by her crew, Mrs. William Seeman Jr., and Mrs. D. Wuescher, quickly took the lead and put a whole leg between hers and the second boat.

When she covered this boat on the windward leg, Miss Rosalie Ambler and crew took advantage of wind shifts, split tacks and took the lead.

Pass Christian won the second race of the series with S. Y. C. placing second. Biloxi had fouled out and withdrew from the race.

The standings at the beginning of the last race Sunday afternoon were: S. Y. C., first, 16 points; P. C. Y. C., second, 15 points; and Fairhope, third, 10 points.

P. C. Y. C. skipperette Ann Liversedge and crew, Rosalie Ambler and Lorette Knost started ahead of S. Y. C. and to windward, but Mrs. Seeman's sailing, assisted by Henrietta Ware and Mrs. Arthur Waters Jr., outpointed the Pass and held the course; when P. C. Y. C. headed for the mark, it was evident that they were not going to "fetch" it with another tack. Fairhope rounded the mark first and had to tie down a broken stay on the next leg; S. Y. C. rounded the mark in the second place. Their object from then on was to cover P. C. Y. C., and the Knost trophy would be theirs. On the final fighting leg, Miss Liversedge made it difficult for the determined S. Y. C. crew by tacking every time the wind shifted; but each time Mrs. Seeman came about and covered them.

The little 15 year old Fairhope girls with Barbara Glover as skipperette, Betty McNab, took second place; Southern ran a close third after threatening her for two legs. Biloxi finished fourth and P. C. Y. C. fifth.

The standing in points for the three races was S. Y. C., 23; P. C. Y. C., 20; Fairhope 19; Biloxi and St. Andrews Bay tied for fourth place with 15 points each; Gulfport and Pensacola, with 12 points each, tied for fifth place; Bay-Waveland 9 points came in sixth; and Buccaneer, with four points, came in ninth.

Ex-Commodore Bernard L. Knost conceived the idea in 1938 for an all girl regatta for the Gulf Yachting association and presented the trophy which is zealously sought after each year. There is only one other all-girl regatta in the United States, and it is held on Long Island Sound.

Need Air Reserve Officers and Enlistees

Qualified Air Force Reserve officers and enlisted men of some 65 specialties are urgently needed on active duty with the Air Force according to Sgt. B. B. Moore.

These reservists are needed as part of the Air Force's plan to fill the newly increased specialist vacancies with highly qualified officers and airmen, and on a strictly voluntary basis.

Officer requirements include such specialties as jet fighter pilots, communications officers, fighter interceptor controllers, electronic officers, weather officers, and many others.

Reserve officers now possessing critical military occupational specialties may request recall through the nearest reserve unit or by application to Headquarters, Fourteenth Air Force, Robins Air Force Base, Macon, Georgia. Recall will be for one year and reserve officers will be asked to perform their active duty in the grade held prior to separation from last period of active duty. This is necessary to avoid disruption to the officer grade structure since the majority of officers now on active duty are reservists. Voluntary recall of the inactive reserve officers in present grade, that have been promoted by the reserve since their last active duty would require in fairness a sweeping readjustment of the grade structure of the active establishment, such readjustment is not desirable at this time.

Enlisted air reservists are needed in such specialties fields as radio and radar maintenance, communications and electronics, aircraft armament, weather, and several others. They may voluntarily request recall for a minimum period of one year by making application through their reserve unit or the nearest U. S. Army and Air Force Recruiting Station. Also Sgt. Moore added, there is a chance for enlisted Air Force reservists to become Regulars and hold their present reserve grade. This is the first time an opportunity like this has been made available to Air Reservists.

An application for grade determination to become a Regular would require approval of Headquarters, Fourteenth Air Force, and an enlistment period of three, four or five years.

Full employment rights after tours of active duty are completed are guaranteed under the Selective Service Laws.

Mr. Holmes had as his best man his brother Brook Holmes; and the groomsmen were another brother, Jimmy Holmes, and M. A. Phillips, Jr., of Bay St. Louis. Ushers were Harvey Stanley Jr. and Dick Thames.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Dick of this city and is a graduate of St. Joseph Academy and of Hotel Dieu School of Nursing.

Mr. Holmes is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Holmes of Foley, Ala., and is a graduate of St. Stanislaus. He is in his senior year of pre-medical work at the University of Alabama. They will make their home at Tuscaloosa, Alabama.

Following the ceremony at the church, a reception was held in the sun parlor of Hotel Reed which was decorated with masses of vari-colored gladiolas. The four tiered wedding cake rested on a lace covered table. Crystal candle holders, holding white tapers, were on either end of the table.

Miss Rosemary Dick became the bride of William C. Holmes Jr., Tuesday, August 22 at a nuptial mass at Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic church, with Monsignor A. J. Gmelch as the celebrant.

To the strains of the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin, played by Professor John Hammersbach, the bride entered with her father who gave her in marriage at an altar decorated with white gladiolas and lighted with white tapers in brass candelabra. She wore a wedding dress of candle light satin made with a full skirt and tight fitted bodice with long button trimmed sleeves falling in points over the hands. The bodice was finished with seed pearls and crystal beads tapering down to the waist line. The long veil of illusion was held to her head by a tiara of fresh fleur de amour. She carried an old fashioned bouquet of Lillies of the Valley and Roman Hyacinths.

The matron of honor to the bride was her sister, Mrs. Harvey Stanley Jr., and her maids were her younger sister, Miss Noele Dick, and Miss Dorothy Simons of New Orleans. The maids all wore white organdy dresses over white taffeta made with a waist length bodice. The neckline was finished with a double Bertha which fell over the shoulder. At the hips the skirt had three deep tucks and from these fell the full gathered floor length skirts. Lavender taffeta sashes completed the dresses. They each carried old fashioned bouquets of white fleur de amour mingled with purple and their head pieces were tiaras of the same fresh flowers.

Mr. Holmes had as his best man his brother Brook Holmes; and the groomsmen were another brother, Jimmy Holmes, and M. A. Phillips, Jr., of Bay St. Louis. Ushers were Harvey Stanley Jr. and Dick Thames.

Mrs. Dick, in a navy blue and white sheer dress and Mrs. Holmes wearing a printed silk dress were receiving with the bridal party. Their corsages were of white fleur d'amour.

For traveling the bride wore a forest green Palm Beach suit with a brown hat and brown accessories. She wore a white orchid shoulder corsage.

Coming from Foley, Alabama for the wedding were Mrs. Sibley Holmes, grandmother of the bridegroom, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Koehle, Mrs. A. M. Redd, Miss Floyd Redd and Miss Barbara Ann Bolter.

Telephones In Use Now For Bay Show Increase

Atlanta, Ga.—The Southern Bell Telephone Co. has added 1,560,020 telephones—an increase of almost 100 per cent—in the last five years, it was announced today by Hal S. Dumas, company president.

Mr. Dumas said there are 3,366,000 telephones in service today in nine states served by Southern Bell, as compared with 1,805,080 at the end of August 1945. This increase, he said, is as large as the increase in telephones for the first 63 years of the company's history.

In a review of telephone progress during the past five years, Mr. Dumas also disclosed that Southern Bell had

1. Tripled the number of rural telephones—from 144,721 to 434,000.

2. Almost doubled its number of long distance circuits, going from 9,300 to 16,500.

3. More than doubled the amount of money invested in telephone facilities, advancing from $389,600,000 to $837,000,000.

Emphasizing the effect of constantly rising costs on the telephone company, Mr. Dumas said that each telephone added today requires facilities costing nearly double what these same facilities cost in 1945.

SERVICE HIGHLY IMPROVED

"During this past half decade, telephone service has become clearer, faster and more dependable in every respect," Dumas said. "Our facilities and the skill of telephone men and women were never so far advanced as they are today. Whatever communication needs may arise, they will be met to the utmost."

LOCAL TELEPHONE GROWTH

J. C. Dabney, group manager here for the telephone company, said there were 1646 telephones in service in Bay St. Louis today, as compared with 765 at the end of 1945. There are 19 long distance circuits as compared with 13 five years ago.

Its first class of nine officers was graduated in 1885. Its mission is to prepare officers for higher command by teaching the fundamentals of warfare with emphasis on naval warfare.

BROADWAY AND MAIN STREET
All This Ex-Boxer Wants Now
Is Peace and a Bit of Pinochle

By BILLY ROSE

One of the more off-color characters around Broadway these days is Kid Herman, ex-great of the prize ring, who runs the newsstand on the southwest corner of 42nd street and Times Square. The Kid, according to the record books, lost only once in 140 professional bouts and was one of the few men to beat Benny Leonard. What's more, he is reputed to have been as scrappy outside the ring as in during his black-and-blue period.

Today, a muscle-bound 56, he likes to think of himself as "a stick of sugared candy." "Me and the world has seen too much fightin'," he told me the other night. "All I want now is peace and a little pinochle."

While we were talking, as it on cue, a man rushing for the subway bumped into the ex-pug.

"Sorry, Mister," apologized Herman. "If I'd known you was coming, I'da baked a cake."

The man's glare relaxed into a grin. "I coulda flattened him with a punch," said the Kid, "but what would it prove? I'd never convince anybody by hittin' him. It's better to go along with people."

"F'rinstance, take the gink who runs the newsstand across the way—Patsy White. Used to be a great fighter. Had a string of 14 straight knockouts till he met up with me. I knocked him down 15 times in 10 rounds, but the first time Patsy heard me tellin' about it, he said it was only 14 times. So the next time I tell it, just to make him feel good, I said it was 14 times, but Patsy says, 'Who you kiddin'?' It was 13. Well, every time he hears me tellin' so finally he says to me, 'Okay, let's leave it this way. Mosta the time you was fightin' me from a horizontal position.'"

JUST THEN, as if he knew we were talking about him, Patsy waved from across the street and yelled, "How's it goin', Kid?" "Come on over an' get yer name in the papers," Herman yelled back at him. "In a minute," said Patsy. "Under the arch!" "What does he mean, under the arch?" I asked.

"It's a private joke we got," said the Kid. "When we were kids we lived near the Brooklyn Bridge, and when we didn't want to do our fightin' where the cops could see us, we used to say, 'Meetin' under the arch,' and then go under the bridge and settle things fair and square. By the time I was 10, I musta slugged it out with every punk in the neighborhood — all except Patsy."

"Then a few years ago, after we both set up stands on Times Square, some bad blood comes up between me and Patsy for the first time. The way it happens, one day I order two bundles of papers instead of one, and when the truck delivers them they forget to drop off the regular one for Patsy. So naturally he thinks one of my two bundles is for him, but when he comes over to get it I tell him it's mine. Well, one word leads to another, so finally I says, 'Under the arch.'"

"That's fer me," says Patsy, so we pile in a cab and drive downtown.

"MY WIND AIN'T what it used to be, but I musta knocked him down half a dozen times before it hits me how crazy it is for a couple of near grandfathers to be beatin' each other's brains out. So I drop my hands and say, 'I just remembered somethin'. I meant to order two bundles but forgot to do it, so you was right the whole time. Let me buy ya a steak and make it up to ya.'"

"'Lucky I remembered,' Patsy said, 'because I was just gettin' warmed up. I'll buy the beers.' As I was about to go, Patsy White came across the street and the Kid introduced us.

"I was just tellin' my friend," he said, "how we go under the arch and I knock you down six times."

"You remember wrong," said Patsy. "It was only five."

"I meant five," apologized Herman.

"See what I mean?" he said after Patsy had gone back to his stand. "Next time it'll be four. And after that, three. But what's the diff? It makes him feel good and it's no skin off my nose."

Accept Applications for Pine Seedlings; Commission To Purchase All Slash Cones

Miss Weston, Others Receive Degrees

Degrees were conferred upon a record group of 430 graduates of the University of Mississippi at summer session commencement exercises Friday afternoon, August 18. A total of 333 degrees were awarded last summer, the highest figure until this year.

Mary Leigh Weston, daughter of Mrs. E. M. Weston, of Bay St. Louis received her degree in the College of Liberal Arts; Eamon A. Lang, Jr., of Pass Christian, received her Bachelor of Laws degree; George Edward French of Pass Christian, was awarded his degree from the School of Pharmacy; and Jeanne Carol Knost, also of Pass Christian, received her Bachelor of Science degree.

J. M. Tubb, state superintendent of education, was the commencement speaker for the ceremony, which were held in the university grove at 5 o'clock.

James Wellington Ward of Raleigh was awarded the first doctor of philosophy degree given by the university since 1895, and was one of 169 students who received degrees ever conferred by the university.

The College of Liberal Arts graduated 71 students, the School of Education 62, and the School of Commerce and Business Administration 49. The candidates for Bachelor of Laws degrees, while included in the total, will not receive their degrees until August 30.

Applications for free pine seedlings from the Mississippi Forestry Commission are now being accepted, Clifton Leonard, Area Forest Ranger, announced.

Application blanks may be obtained from the area ranger whose office is located in the County Agent's office in the Knights of Columbus Hall on Main street.

Five thousand trees will be given to the farmers free by the commission, Mr. Leonard continued, and anyone desiring to exceed that number may purchase them at a cost of $3.35 per thousand, to be paid in advance, if the pines cannot be furnished, the money will be refunded. The only charges on the ones given by the Forestry Commission is thirty-five cents per thousand to cover freight expenses.

The Forestry Commission is now paying $1.50 per bushel for slash pine cones it can collect, Leonard continued. Anyone desiring to sell cones can contact Ranger Leonard and if they have any large amount Forestry Service will collect them. Anyone who has only two or three bushels to sell must deliver them to the Area Ranger and he will pay for them at time of delivery.

The Forestry Commission is collecting these cones to get seed for planting their nursery. The slash cone is the only type they will buy.

Fraering-Dixon Nuptials Celebrated In Waveland

Miss Barbara Carol Dixon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Frank Dixon of New Orleans, became the bride of Lieut. (jg) William John Fraering, US Naval Reserve, son of Mr. and Mrs. Camille Martin Fraering of New Orleans and Waveland, at St. Claire's Catholic church in Waveland Saturday afternoon. Rev. M. J. Costello officiated.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an ankle-length gown of white nylon marquisette accented with Pointe de Venice lace.

Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a pill box of the same lace that trimmed her gown, and she carried an old-fashioned bouquet of white roses.

Miss Felicie Elizabeth Waguespack, maid of honor, wore an ankle-length gown of pale blue nylon marquisette with a trimming of knife pleating of the same material.

Miss Alice Mead was the other attendant on the bride and her gown was also ankle-length. It was fashioned of pale blue embroidered organza trimmed in pleated ruffles. Both attendants wore headbands of matching nylon tulle and carried bouquets of pink sweetheart roses.

John Martin Fraering was his brother's best man; his other attendants were William F. King, Robin L. Dahlbert, Frank J. Basile, Jr. and Robert Fuselier.

A reception followed the ceremony. The bride's mother received in a short gown of grey nylon marquisette worn with a brown orchid corsage.

OBSERVATIONS

Our congratulations. Your action, with a properly administered Park Commission and one with the interest of Bay St. Louis at heart, may mean the rebuilding of our City as the vacation spot of the Gulf Coast.

Anyone interested in planting pine seedlings this coming year should contact Clifton Leonard, Area Forest Ranger of the Mississippi Forestry Service and make application for the seedlings. Idle land can be made to produce revenue when it is planted in pine seedlings. We need more acres of pine trees, and in time it may mean the location of a paper plant or some other plants which utilize forest products.

Mrs. Edith Kelley left this week for Washington, D. C., to visit her son.

A Message To The Building Public

Lately there have been many rumors circulating throughout the building industry about high prices, shortage of materials, etc. Some of this is true—some is not, but the management of our firm felt it wise to give the public as much information as possible concerning general building materials. So far as local building is concerned this is the general picture.

LUMBER—Practically all sizes are readily available and supply will probably be better in a month or two when cold weather curtains building in the North. Prices are up some over several months ago.

STEEL PRODUCTS—NAILS, ROOFING and most steel products are available. Prices are up a little on some items—but have remained the same on many items.

ROOFING, PAINTS, SASH & DOORS & INSULATION—These products are readily available and in most cases prices have remained the same or increased slightly.

CEMENT — SHEETROCK—These are the only two items that are temporarily short. There has been no cement in the territory in over 30 days. The situation should ease up on these two items within the next three or four weeks.

Looking over this analysis you can see that the wild rumors you hear about "impossible to build," etc., are mostly bunk. The general outlook is encouraging. If you have been planning a new home, or a little remodeling of your present home, come in and talk it over with us. We can probably take care of all your requirements with no delay.

"Night Must Fall" Provides Thrilling Suspense Element

For lovers of mystery, the Little Theatre is presenting one of the most intense suspense stories written for the stage. "Night Must Fall," which is currently showing, is unusual in its psychological study of character, plus a gripping story element.

The play is well directed by Mrs. A. D. Drescher, whose understanding of this type of performance is above average. Her cast includes some new faces on the local boards.

The story centers around an old woman, played by Eleanor Sabbath, and a young man, played by Lothar Hornuff. It would be difficult to say who gives the best performance, as their work is excellent, and the intense drama of their emotions is transmitted to the audience, making a mere spectator feel that he is truly a witness to their lives. Both of the stars of this show, for stars they are, have been known to this audience in comedy, and their talent for real acting is displayed with a versatility that is amazing to those who are more or less familiar with the active talent of the theatre.

For some of the finest acting ever done in the Little Theatre, do not miss "Night Must Fall."

Excellent comedy work is done by Marguerite Backman, an ever popular actress. The entire supporting cast gives excellent performances; Eldred Assenheimer as the perennial bore does a convincing job, as does Bernard Parrelly impersonating a Scotland Yard Inspector. Teresa Russell, Odette Witelberger, Hope Crasto, and Phillip Allison all give interpretations of their roles that are interesting and well done.

The lighting and scenic effects of this play deserve considerable commendation, as they are so excellently handled and precision timed that the mood of the audience is at once plunged into the drama unfolding before their eyes.

A Daily Bible Study Course opened at the First Baptist Church Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. R. L. Lee in charge. The discussions on the readings will be held the fourth Tuesday of each month. Women of any denomination may join. The class has planned to read the Bible in three years.

Mrs. L. O'Leary left Bay St. Louis Thursday for New Orleans. She plans to have a check up of her recent operation.

Of course, today's housewife has electric helps to lend a hand and take much heavy work out of housework. But even the finest gadgets need something else—cheap, dependable electric service to give them life and usefulness.

That's why most housewives take electricity for granted. You flip a switch and know electricity is ready.

You can take its economy for granted, too. For electricity is just about the smallest item in your family budget. Profit Incentive

Much has gone into the matchless progress of America, but its singular prosperity has been created by courageous men and women willing to take a chance.

Under our constitution "life, liberty and property" were made secure against seizure - no person could be deprived of either without due process of law."

Of course the Income Tax Amendment to the Federal Constitution, with no limitation upon what the Government could take from the wages of the worker, put a crimp into the freedom of the individual to own property. What a man earned was no longer his own. In the form of withholding tax, a good part of a man's earnings are taken at the source.

The pressure of Federal Taxes is having an unfavorable influence on the ambition and the industry of millions of workers. Much of their incentive to earn more is destroyed, for one says to himself, "Why work so hard to support an extravagant government? After all, why should I toil and sweat to provide more money for the government to squander?"

As late as 1932 the total annual tax collected by the Federal Government was $1,800,000,000; in 1948 the Federal Government collected $45,000,000,000.

Under our free enterprise system which has amazed the whole world by its colossal achievements, so-called venture capital has been the stimulating and driving force that has carried us forward. Individuals and corporation have plowed back into business a goodly share of their profits. If the government takes too big a chunk out of these profits, there is less to plow back to make improvements, to modernize plants, to finance research and provide new jobs for an increasing population.

Our superior capitalistic system cannot do its best—it cannot function efficiently, it cannot continue to prosper without the profit incentive for the encouragement of the individual—it cannot progress without providing risk capital for our ever expanding economy.

The only way a Government can reduce taxes is to cut expense. Like any good citizen, it should do without the fancy stuff—live within its income, pay its debts and encourage its people to work and save.

We've Nearly Doubled the Number of Telephones

...and we're still on the run!

What an expansion of telephone facilities for five short years! The number of Southern Bell telephones in service has been increased from 1,805,980 at the end of World War II to 3,366,000 today—nearly doubled. Thus, in five years' time, we have achieved an increase in telephones as large as the increase for the first 63 years of our company's history.

And here's more of the five-year picture of progress:

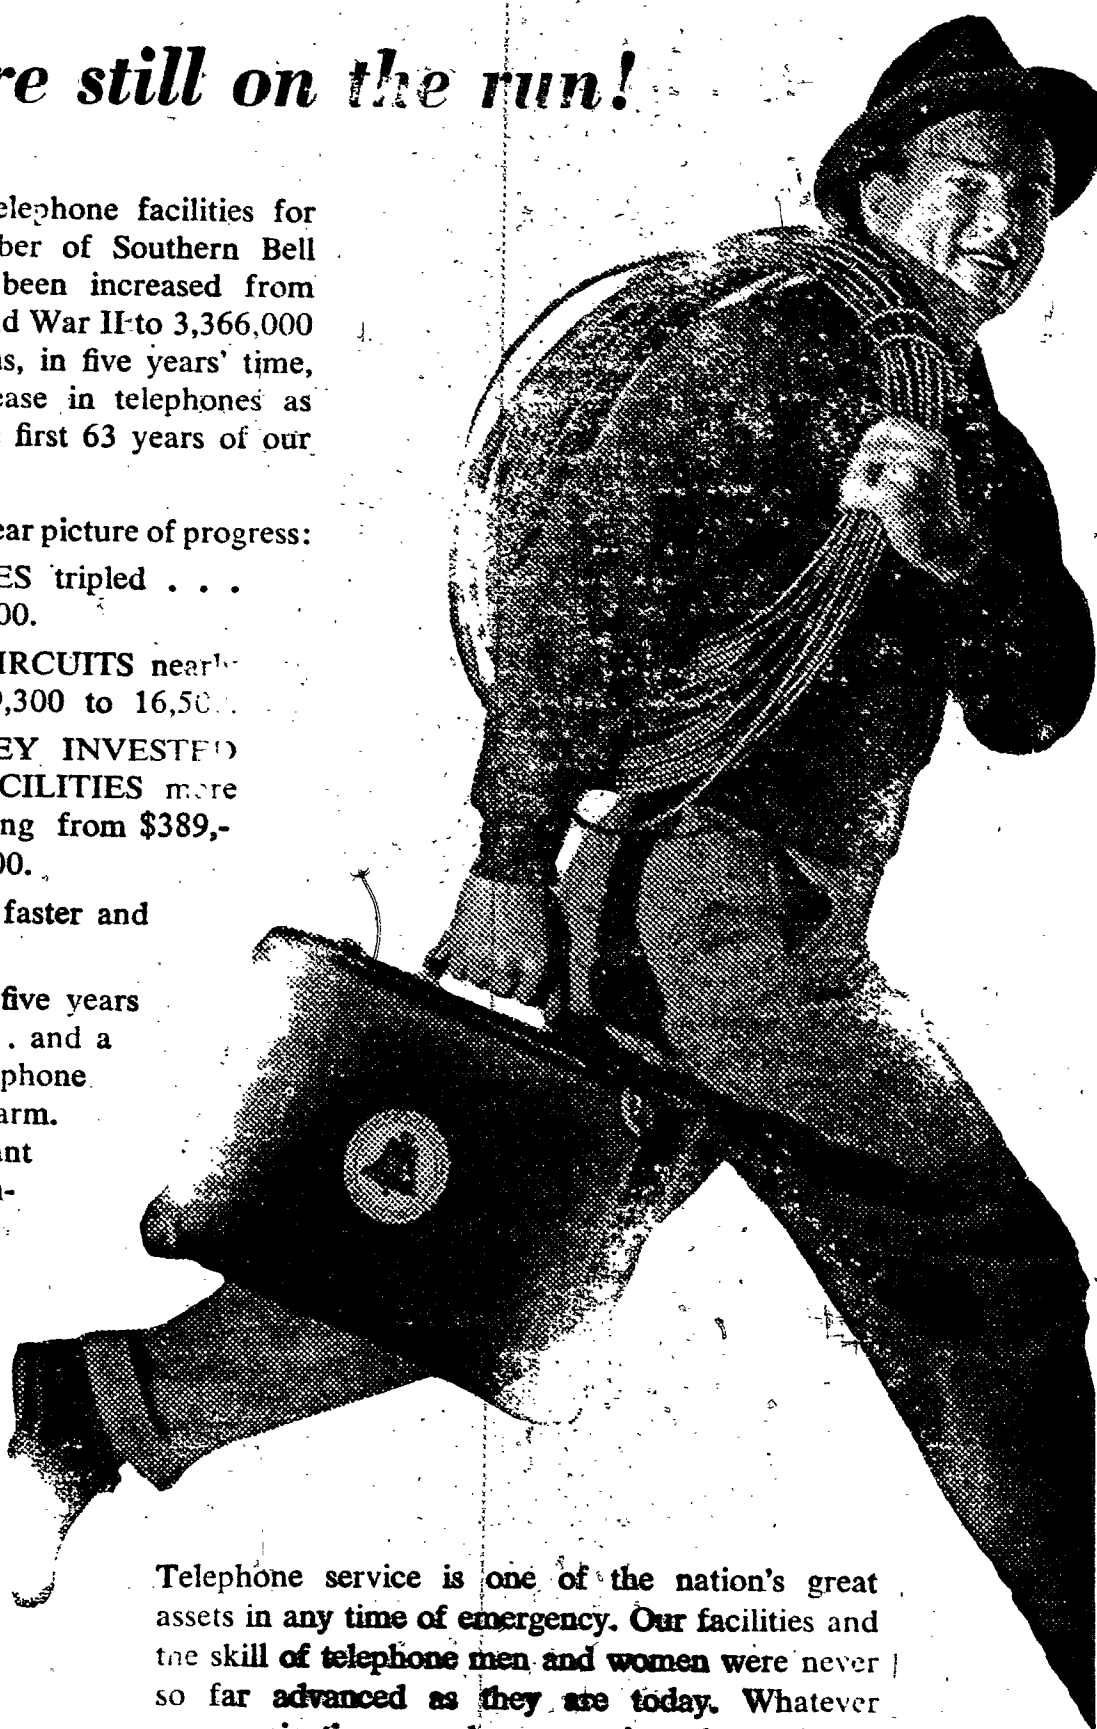

RURAL TELEPHONES tripled . . . from 144,721 to 434,000.

LONG DISTANCE CIRCUITS nearly doubled, going from 9,300 to 16,500.

AMOUNT OF MONEY INVESTED IN TELEPHONE FACILITIES more than doubled, advancing from $389,600,000 to $837,000,000.

SERVICE . . . clearer, faster and more dependable.

South has experienced five years of unprecedented growth . . . and a tremendous upsurge in telephone demand in town and on the farm. Meeting this demand has meant constructing new buildings, installing new central office equipment and thousands of miles of wire on pole lines and in cables. For each telephone added today, these facilities are costing nearly twice as much as in 1945.

Telephone service is one of the nation's great assets in any time of emergency. Our facilities and the skill of telephone men and women were never so far advanced as they are today. Whatever communications needs may arise, they will be met to the utmost.

IMPERIAL...is the word for it!

"Imperial," says Webster, means "superior excellence." IMPERIAL, says Chrysler, is this luxurious new car that excels anything on wheels in the sheer exquisiteness of its styling. Come look inside this reigning beauty . . . look at the lavish wool broadcloth fabrics, tastefully combined with topgrain leathers. Look at the lovely color harmonies, the soft sheen of the butter-finished chrome. Consider the advantages of Fluid Drive . . . exclusive new automatic transmission . . . Waterproof Ignition . . . Full Flow Oil Filter . . . High Compression Spitfire Engine . . . electric window lifts . . . the CLEARBAC rear window for exceptional driver vision . . . and dozens more. Surely, of all the world's fine automobiles, only the Chrysler CROWN IMPERIAL, this car's running mate, achieves the same aristocratic distinction. Come see the flawless workmanship, the fine materials, the superb Chrysler engineering . . . and you'll agree that no other car, at any price, compares with the Chrysler IMPERIAL. Inside or out, there is no finer car in America!

ONLY THE CHRYSLER IMPERIAL offers you this absolutely unique system of window control! Each window has its own separate electric motor . . . each one can be raised and lowered independently from the driver's seat or at the window itself. And that's not all! So many other de luxe features . . . the kind you think of as being in the "special order, extra cost" category . . . are STANDARD EQUIPMENT on the Chrysler

Imperial. For example: armrests on all four doors . . . foam rubber seat cushions and seat backs . . . double-width center armrests in front as well as rear seats . . . stainless steel wheel covers . . . white sidewall low-pressure tires . . . carpeted luggage compartment! Full flow oil filter and many other engine features! Yes, you get all these extras as standard equipment with your beautiful new Chrysler Imperial.

New beautiful Chrysler Imperial . . . one of 21 lovely Chrysler body styles!

Inside and out . . . it has no equal at any price . . .

ADVANTAGES AND DISADVANTAGES OF LEGUMES LISTED

State College, Miss.—Tests comparing the fertility value of winter legumes and commercial nitrogen have been under way at the Delta Branch Experiment Station at Stoneville since 1929.

Some of the conclusions drawn by Agronomist Perrin H. Grissom in a recent report on soil fertility practices in the Delta are as follows:

Factors favoring winter legumes.—

(1) Turning under a good crop of winter legumes increases the yield of cotton equivalent to 40 to 60 pounds of commercial nitrogen.

(2) Price advantage under PMA program.

(3) Possible price advantage if farmer grows own seed.

(4) On soils, particularly silty clay loam and silty clays, where physical condition is a limiting factor, there appears to be temporary improvement of the physical condition which is particularly beneficial following winter legumes.

(5) There is normally a greater amount of nitrogen carried over to the next season following legumes than where commercial nitrogen is applied.

Factors opposed to winter legumes.—

(1) Cost without PMA payments.

(2) In more than 50 percent of the cases, poor stands prevail and total green weight turned under is very low.

(3) Two to three weeks must be allowed after turning under legumes before planting cotton, otherwise poor stands of cotton will result. With unfavorable weather, this time lapse may seriously delay the planting of cotton.

(4) If heavy growth is produced, turning under is a problem.

(5) Cutworm and other insect damage to young cotton is usually worse following winter legumes than where legumes were not grown.

(6) If there are deficiencies of phosphate, potash, or lime, these plant foods must be added for successful growth of winter legumes. Whether these minerals, applied to winter legumes, are as efficient as when applied directly for cotton is doubtful.
